Amanda T. Welles.

Partner

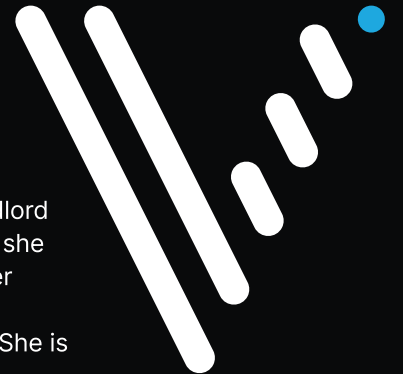

Amanda T. Welles has been a driving force in Dallas-Fort Worth's commercial retail real estate scene since 2014. Raised in a real estate family and with a Markets & Cultures degree from SMU, she combines deep industry roots with cultural insight to deliver exceptional landlord representation and consultation across DFW. Hannah Boswell.

Associate

Rooted in retail and driven by results, Hannah Boswell joined Venture in 2025 with a focus on landlord representation across DFW. She began her real estate career at The Woodmont Company, where she supported retail development and leasing across both tenant and landlord portfolios. Raised in her grandmother's Tulsa boutique and seasoned at Morgan Stanley's private wealth team in Denver, Hannah blends retail instincts with financial acumen and a sharp eye for merchandising strategy. She is a University of Mississippi grad with a degree in Economics and Business Administration.

Best mix... bottom line.

The right tenant mix doesn't just fill space—it drives results. We engineer high-performing tenant lineups that boost sales, which increases rent potential and positions your center for long-term growth. It's a performance loop: stronger sales support stronger rents—and in many cases, unlock overage rent when tenants exceed sales thresholds. We're not just chasing lease-up. We're building merchandising momentum that transforms retail centers into high-performance assets. From land strategy to pad placement down to every square foot leased, our team aligns every decision to your vision and bottom line.
